

I find it objectionable that the Burlington, Iowa market is primarily served by corporate-run radio stations which focus on nationally syndicated, mass market programming.

The airwaves are a public resource; but with the licensing requirements currently in place the public has little access to this resource. Expansion of the LPFM service is an excellent way for the FCC to correct this problem.